What makes an emulsion?

Friday, July 19, 2024 9:30 AM (20 minutes)

In 2004 I was a postdoc in John's group in Canberra and was tasked with supporting him in his role as an expert witness in a patent dispute.

The dispute hinged on the technical meaning of "emulsion" and whether the allegedly infringing product was an emulsion. John spoke of this work a number of times over the years, but here I will discuss in a bit more detail how we tackled this question, what it taught me, and show some results from experiments inspired by this case.
